“Speaking Research and then Speaking Advocacy: Findings Reworded for Policy Makers.”

The Conversations are moderated by
Peter Scheidt, MD, MPH
Professor of Pediatrics
Center for Translational Science
Children’s Research Institute

The Conway Conversations are designed to engage us in lively discussions and demonstrations about developing scientific ideas, i.e., how this is done, issues that confront idea development, choices made about design and methods. This series of research discussions will focus on the evolution of several ideas. Attendees respond to the ideas and influence their development. Additionally one social or political force that influences science is discussed
